

You Didn't Need to Figure It Out

You kept trying to understand it.

But it wasn't something to solve.

The more you stopped explaining, the clearer it became.

It didn't need an answer.

It needed your attention.

You didn't need to figure it out.